A TOUCH OF EXCLUSIVITY

The hand-stamped soap dishes impress with their clever integrated spacer, which ensures that the soap remains raised from the base after use and can therefore dry better. This prolongs the freshness and shelf life of the soap bar. Made from robust stoneware, the bowls are not only durable but also easy to clean. The intricate patterns give each dish an individual touch, making each piece a unique work of art.

These soap dishes are perfect for anyone who appreciates sustainability and stylish design. They combine functionality and aesthetics and create a decorative accent in any bathroom. Combined with handmade soaps, they make the perfect gift or to add a touch of luxury and craftsmanship to your own bathroom.

PRESERVE TRADITIONS – SAVE LIVELIHOODS!

Our handmade blue pottery soap dishes are crafted in a very special way in and around Jaipur, India. The founder of the company fell in love with the traditional blue pottery – a special kind of pottery which was brought to Jaipur in the early 19th Century. Unfortunately this beautiful handcraft was not enough to guarantee a craftsman's life subsistence so that it was rarely practised. When the founder visited the poor villages nearby, she recognised that this could be a chance for the impoverished farmers to earn money without leaving their homes to move to the city.

After a few setbacks and continuous quality improvements the project finally succeeded. Blue pottery assures a livelihood for more than 150 potters from four villages. Altogether this special company has helped more than a thousand crafters to support themselves, and the future of the blue pottery shines bright.

A CLEAN THING

The soap bag is not only designed for storing bars of soap, but is also perfect for gentle exfoliation. By filling it with left-over bars of soap, you can make the most of every last scrap.

The loofah sponge is made from natural fibres that are biodegradable and therefore kind to the environment. As you massage your skin with the sponge, you stimulate blood circulation and remove dead skin cells, resulting in a fresh and radiant complexion. After use, your skin will feel silky soft and revitalised. Use the sponge in combination with your favourite soap for a particularly pampering shower experience.
